Born Translated* – Sociology of World Literature

Rebecca L. Walkowitz's “Born Translated. The Contemporary Novel in the Age of World Literature” is point of departure for our discussions about current issues in the fields of Translation Studies and Comparative Literature, and intersections thereof. In our bi-weekly meetings, we want to discuss not only the consecutive chapters of this book, but also additional readings on Sociology of Translation.

This format is aimed at popularization of Translation Studies. Furthermore, we would like to bring together participants from different countries in order to facilitate cooperation between universities and young researchers. The reading series is open to undergraduate or graduate students, and faculty members interested in exchange. Our working language is English.

This initiative is part of the research project “Go East – Go West!” under guidance of Prof. Anja Tippner, Institute of Slavic Studies, University of Hamburg. Our institutional partner is Center for Translation Studies, Faculty of Polish Studies, Jagiellonian University, under guidance of Prof. (UJ) Magda Heydel, and Student Research Group “Wkoło Tłumaczeń”.

The event is hosted by Karolina Kaminska (UHH) and Joanna Sobesto (UJ).

If you would like to join the discussion, please write an e-mail to: karolina.kaminska@uni-hamburg.de
